The Object Said to be to Counternet the British Influence in the Islands and Promote American Interests-The Extra Session Question-The Dullest New Year's Day that Washington Has Ever Seen.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—An extended trip is in contemplation by members of the House and senate, or at least a part of them. The scheme is a visit to the Hawaiian Islands, to be taken by fifteen Republicans and fifteen Democrats of the House and Seven Republicans and seven Democrats of the Senate who are members of the present and will be members of the next Congress. The object is said not to be a junket, but a business trip. Whether this means the purchase of some Island for a coaling station or to make arrangements for laying a Pacific cable or to enter into negotiation to acquire the entire group, is not yet stated, but the arrangements have progressed so far that certain Congressmen have been asked to go, and the time for starting that has been fixed is May 2 and the place of departure Chi-

One of the chief reasons of the proposed trip is said to be a desire on the part of the United States Government to counteract the influence which Englishmen are exerting in the Islands to prevent and keep down American commerce. The treaty with Hawaii expires in about fourteen months, and British interests are now hard at work trying to secure some foothold in the Islands that the United States Government has obtained. Congress has appropriated $250,000 for a coaling station, and British interests fear that if this station is established the United States will ultimately control the islands, and England has been trying to convince the islanders of this. There are also some valuable harbor privileges which this Government desires, and which is also wanted by the British. The visit of forty-four members of Congress may have a good effect upon the islanders, and the United States interests in Hawaii very much benefited. influence which Englishmen are exerting in

To-day was the quietest New Year Washingington has experienced within living memory. Ington has experienced within living memory.

Not even the pleasant, sunshiny weather which followed yesterday's rain storm could enliven the prevailing dulness. The White House was not only a house of mourning, but was quarantined by reason of infectious fever. Consequently there could have been no reception there even if domestic bereavement had not forbidden it. Cabinet officers and leading officials of the Government followed the example of the Chief Executive, and the entire omission of all the official receptions deprived the day of all the life and color which the brilliant uniforms of the diplomatic corns and the officers of the army and navy usually give to the occasion. Speaker Crisp being sick, though not seriously so, Mrs. Crisp did not receive. At nearly all the leading hole is the custom which has been observed for many years by the lady guests of holding a reception in the parlors was this year omitted. Very few private residences kept open house. With all the departments and places of business closed there was hardly anything except the open barrooms and restaurants and the closed churches to distinguish the day from the dullest of Washington's dull Sundays.

All work on the eleventh census will be completed and the matter turned over to the Secretary of the Interior by Dec. 31, 1893. completed and the matter turned over to the Becretary of the Interior by Dec. 31, 1893. This will be required by the appropriation bill now being framed by a House sub-committee, of which Mr. Sayers of Texas is Chairman. The clause providing that the work must be completed by the end of the year meets with the approbation of Superintendent Porter, who says it can be done in that time. Up to date the cost of the census hinsheen $7,-2.0.000, and Mr. Forter was before the committee to-day to urge the passage of the bill appropriating $240,000 to carry him from the 4th of March to the end of the fiscal year. Mr. Forter was asked to show why it was that the expense was greater than had been anticipated. He replied that it was because the present census had assumed a much broader field of operation than any of its predecessors. This was noticeable in the statistics that had been prepared on education, churches, insurance, Indians, fish and lisheries, horticulture, frigation, viticulture, straat railway statistics, water transportation, and other subjects. In addition there was an expense of $1,250,000 entailed by taking the statistics relative to farms, homes, and mortanges, which was entirely without the province of the census work proper and was nover attempted before.

An explosion, followed quickly by the rat-

An explosion, followed quickly by the rattling sound of falling iron, occurred this morn-ing in front of the residence of ex-Secretary Blaine on Lafavette square. The report could be heard in the house, but only faintly, and did not disturn Mr. Blaine, who was a sleep at the time. The explosion was caused by leaky gas mains, which filled the electric conduit with mains, which filled the electric conduit with illuminating gas, and coming in contact with an imperfectly insulated wire, set the gas afire. The heavy iron mantrap was blown up a distance of fifteen feet, and fell, breaking the inch-thick cast iron into a dozon nieces. The conduit for a distance of several squares was cracked. Other manholes along the conduit were also thown off. Aside from the loss to the company, which is trifling, no damage was done and no alarm was created.

Chairman Carter of the National Republican Committee arrived in this city yesterday and is stopping at Chamberlain's, where he received a number of callers to-day. Mr. Carter says that he has come East to try and settle up the affairs of the committee and to attend to private business. He will go to New York on Wednesday, where he is to remain a few days, and will then return to Washington for a stay of several days. Chairman Carter of the National Republican

NORWICH'S FATAL COCK FIGHT.

Fifteen Prisoners Fined and Warrants Out for Forty More of the Sports,

Norwich, Conn., Jan. 2.-Late reports of the fatal New Year's eve cock fight in Mulholland's Riverside Hotel, near Taftville, show that there were not less than 125 persons at the main. Seventy-five of them took the breakneck leap from the third-story windows of the hotel, and not less than twenty remained on the ground where they fell with broken arms and legs. After the panie the police loaded the cripples into wagons and hauled loaded the cripples into wagons and hauled them into town, where all the doctors were kept busy for several hours setting fractured limbs. Those of the frightened cock lighters who did not leap through the windows either field through the hotel celiars or were captured by the police.

Fifteen prisoners were in the City Court before Judge Kellogg to-day and pleaded guilty to the charge either of being principals or spectators of the main. John Mulholland, proprietor of the hotel, was fined $50 and costs. Henry Smith, proprietor of the Hyde Tayern in Franklin, who owned the ten Yantle cocks, also paid $50 and costs. The rest of the prisoners were fined $7 each except John Byan, who assisted Mr. Smith in the pit. Byan paid a fine of $30 and costs.

The police have warrants out for the arrest of forty or fifty more citizens, many of whom are prominent in business.

Edward Welsh, the Norwich Falls young man who was instantly killed in jumping from a window of the hotel, will be buried in Norwich

A LOTTERY FRAUD.

Clittering Promises. But Only a Few 85 and 810 Prizes. Sr. Louis, Jan. 2.- About three weeks ago a Hebrew detective. Col. Abe Slupsky of St. Louis, discovered a plant for the counterfeiting of Louisiana lottery tickets on Clark street in Chicago. Slupsky arrived in St. Louis on Saturday night and brought with him 200,000 tickets of "the Original Yera Cruz Lottery Company." The tickets were still in sheets

Company." The tickets were still in sheets ready to be numbered and then cut apart. The plant was in Los Angolos, Cal., and the enterprise is one of the biggest frauds ever perpetrated on the public.

The tickets announce that the capital prize is $50,000, and the holder of the lucky ticket is sentitled to one-cighth of it. The tickets have been sold all over California and the Western country. The founders of the scheme have heen making lots of money. The plan of operation is to issue the tickets and record the numbers sold, and the dealers to whom they are issued. A couple of thousand dollars is then split up into $5 and $10 prizes and sent out as a bait. There has been no capital prize issued. A bulletin was issued every month setting forth the numbers winning the capital prize and other large prizes. These numbers were never issued, but remained with the company. The affair has been broken up as a fraud, but no prosecution of the men will follow unless some purchaser of a ticket takes it up.

Asphyxiated by Gas While Drunk.

Brune Hoeland, a German crockery dealer, and married daughter, was found lead yesterday morning in a room in the Shellorne House. Third avenue and Thirty-lourth street. He had been asphyxiated by gas. As the win-dow was open at the top about three inches his death is attributed to accident. He is said to have been drunk when he went to bed.

This influence, Mrs. Haynes believes, is due in part, at least, to hypnotism, though she says that pecuniary interest had something to do with the exertion of her power over Mrs. Harrington when Miss Carsons forced the former to live with her uninterruptedly for ten years. Mrs. Haynes says that when her daughter was ill. Dr. Raynor told the patient that she must consent to Sadie leaving her. but that all the entreaties of herself and Mr.

but that all the entreaties of herself and Mr. Haynes were unavailing, owing to the influence of Miss Carsons.

Of their daughter's marriage the Hayneses know nothing but what their daughter told them. They never saw Harrington, but they have the marriage certificate, which shows that Eta Haynes was married to F. T. Harrington on Jan. 8, 1887, at St. Poter's Reman Catholic Church by the Rev. Edwin Kelly. The name of Sadie Carsons appears on the certificate as witness, together with the name of Robert J. Eames of Frankfort, Ky. The Hayneses believe that Sadie brought about the marriage and was largely instrumental in causing the separation as well.

"Sadie knows Harrington's address but would never tell it to us," Mrs. Haynes said, "for she knows that we would then find out the real cause of the trouble between husband and wife. Harrington probably thought that two women in one household was one too many."

and wife. Harrington probably thought that two women in one household was one too many."

Mrs. Harnes bases this theory on the existence of a letter in which, it is said. Harrington wrote: "Leava Sadle and come back to me and it will be all right." Harrington seems to have retained some affection for his wife, for when he learned of the loss of her jewelry and furniture in the Shenandoah flats by fire he sent her money to buy the watch which Mrs. Harrington sent to Miss Carsons on Christmas. Sadle Carsons's father is janitor at 725 Columbus avenue, where he is employed by James A. Renwick, 111 Broadway. Formerishe was employed at Bont's Iron Works, at Portchester. He has four other children—Charles, who is in Jacksonville; George, who is in the milk business in New York; Edward, a butcher at Portchester, and a daughter 14 years old. The father says that Sadle left their home because he would not let her have Mrs. Harrington there. He says that the girl refused to come home when her mother and sister were sick. When her mother died she came home to see the body, but that was the only time in ten years. Carson says that both women ought to have been sent to a lunatic asylum.

TICKET SPECULATORS ROUTED. Dan Frohman's Method is Not Patented, and

The advertisements of the Lyceum Theatre now contain the line "No speculators allowed." In explanation of this Mr. Daniel Frohman said yesterday: "We have succeeded, after a fight, in ridding this theatre of the pest of ticket speculators, and that line in our advertisement is merely a precautionary hint to our patrons that we shall continue the rule of not admitting holders of tickets purchased from speculators. When we found, at the beginning of the present season, that speculators were peddling tickets on the sidewalk, I sent word to them that their tickets would not be recognized at the door. They did not believe me, evidently, for they attempted to continue their trade. I then enattempted to continue their trade. I then engaged enough men to surround every speculator and follow every purchaser of speculators' tickets to the door, where they were pointed out to the ticket takers and admittance was refused them. Naturally they were indignant, and returned to the speculators and demanded the return of their money. The row they raised around the speculators deterred other people from buying, and the cure was soon effected. While I mean to keep up this fight. I do not deny that this theatre, in common with others, does send a few tickets to the hotels, but for them we get only the regular price, and it is done to accommodate out-of-town patrons, who find it more convenient to buy at their hotels than elsewhere."

Mr. Frohman remarked that the manner in which he had abated the nuisance was not patented and could be adopted anywhere else.

FORGED FOR THEIR FRIEND,

The Device of Two Tailors to Secure the Release of a Workhouse Prisoner,

Eugene O'Mahoney and James Fay were arraigned in the Yorkville Police Court yester-day for forgery on complaint of Commissioner P. Haws of New York purchasing the road for Charles E Simmons of the Public Charities and Corrections. O'Mahoney is a tailor who lives at 317 East Twenty-first street, and Fay is also a tailor, living at 154 West Twentyfifth street. They took great interest in Anthony Gallagher, who is serving a short senshorten his sentence by inserting what was necessary in the blanks of a discharge form they got hold of, and forging Justice White's name at the end, as follows:

Traine at the end, as follows:

The two tailors, who pleaded guilty, were held in $1,000 bail each to await the action of the Grand Jury.

They say they had no idea they were committing a crime when they forged for friendship's sake.

MR. BREESE'S BOB SLED UPSET.

He was Somewhat Hurt, and the Ludles with Him were Frightened.

Mr. James Laurence Breese's bob sled over turned on Friday night at Tuxedo Park, and threw his party into the shallow gutter at the side of the road. The prolonged cold weather had brought the roads into prime condition for sledding, and the crowd of fashionable folk that are spending the holidays at the club house or at the cottages in the park are making the most of the coasting.

Mr. Breeze had Mrs. Wainwright and Miss King on hits bob, and was running down "the long hill" on the east side of the park. Some unevenness in the road made the sled to swerve, and in the effort to right it was tipped over. The ladies were slightly bruised and very much frightened. One of the metal runners ran over Mr. Breeze's thigh and made a slight flesh wound.

Nothing was said of the matter for fear of frightening Mr. Breeze's mother, who is a confirmed invalid, and confined to her room at her residence in this city. 35 East Twenty-second street. In some way Mrs. Breeze heard of the accident late on Saturday evening and was greatly shocked. She rallied on Sunday, and yesterday was reported to be gaining. folk that are spending the holidays at the death of Mr. McCoy were made known to Mrs. McCoy and her sister through the daily maners.

M'COY'S WIDOW SETS OUT FOR HOME.

The Newspapers Told Her Tenterday Mov When the North Shore limited train drew out of the Grand Central Depot at 4:30 yesterday there was seated in the Wagner car Brentwood a slight, pale-looking woman, dressed in black and carrying a small bunch of lilies of the valley. She was Mrs. McCoy, the young wife of Albert Sydney Johnston McCoy of San Francisco, who, as was reported in THE BUN of yesterday, was stabbed to the heart by Clara Vincent King in private theatricals on New Year's eve at the home of his mother, at 1,118

Guerro street, San Francisco. Mrs. McCoy had been visiting for two weeks with her sister the wife of James F. Secor a his nome in Pelham Manor, and it was at his ome on New Year's Day that a telegram was welved announcing the violent death of Mr. eCoy. The circumstances attending the bath of Mr. McCoy wore made known to Mrs.

Mrs. McCoy is accompanied on her journey back to the home which she left a little over two weeks age by Edward Johnston. a cousin of Mr. McCoy, who lives in Brooklyn.

Mr. McCoy was 30 years old and was born of a Southern lamily, his father being Major W. W. McCoy. a veteran of the Mexican war. Major McCoy left an estate of 4,000 acres of fruit orchards and vineyards in Shasta county. Cal., with the management of which the son was mainly occupied, although he was a graduate of the Vanderbilt law College in Tennessee and also of the Toland Medical College of San Francisco. He married a Miss Elizabeth Klink of San Francisco.

Mr. McCoy's death was as peculiar as it was sudden. He and Miss king were presenting a charade representing a Nihilistic scene. At one point in the scene Miss King, in the part of Nadja Leuresstin, a prisoner, was to try to stab Mr. McCoy. The weakness of one of Miss King's ankles caused her to stumble so that she was thrown against Mr. McCoy, and the dagger she held was plunged into his body. Mr. McCoy made no outery, and the charade proceeded. At the close of the charade Mr. McCoy told one of his family that he had been stabbed. He died before a doctor came.

ONLY RESIDRING THE OLD RATES

That, It is Alleged, is the Result of the Penn PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—Considerable comment was caused by a statement which was given out last week announcing that a feud ever coal tolls existing between the Pennsylvania and Reading roads had been amicably settled at a meeting held by officers of the two companies. A meeting between the rivals was held, but its purpose, it is now said, has been thoroughly misconstrued. A prominent railroad man says: "The time and cause of the partial estrangsment of the two great railroads dates to a meeting of the traffic agents of the coal-carrying reads held in New York on Aug. 24. At this meeting a proposition was presented to advance tolls on anthracite coal, which propo sition the Pennsylvania company refused to advance to is on antifractic coal, which proposition the Pennsylvania company refused to countenance. The proposed increase in rates amounted to 25 cents per ton on all shipments of antifractic to Buffalo, and all other points in New York State, the roads west of Buffalo making a corresponding advance on shipments to Chicago. This increase went into effect on Sept. 10, and was joined in by all the lines interested except the Pennsylvania.

"Further than this, the Pennsylvania road declined to make an advance in the rate, then under consideration, upon shipments to Philadelphia, and it maintained its position despite several unpleasant obstacles. The announcement, therefore, last week, made it appear that the Pennsylvania had at last concluded to accede to the propositions of the other coalcarving roads, and agree to make the advance. This, on its face, was unjust and misleading. The true situation has been clearly and concisely reviewed by General Freight Agent William II. Joyce of the Pennsylvania Railroad, when he stated that the recent arradgement restores the joint ariffs to the rates prior to Sentember last, at which time the joint rates were withdrawn by the Reading Railroad. The so-called feud is ended, and a return to the old rates, which the Pennsylvania Railroad. The so-called feud is ended, and a return to the old rates, which the Pennsylvania (and Privileges on Canada's Railroads.

Bonding Privileges on Canada's Railroads.

OTTAWA, Dec. 31.-The Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, speaking of the report from Washington that President Harrison has decided to strike a last blow at Canada by abolishing the bonding privileges now enjoyed by Canadian railways, said that the threat had come so often that Canadians were prepared for it. There was no disputing the fact, he said, that There was no disputing the fact, he said, that the abolition of such privileges would be a serious blow to Canndian trade; but unless Canada would submit willingly to a very one-sided arrangement the blow would operate both ways. Nearly $60,000,000 worth of merchandise was shipped in bond last year through Canadian territory. Thus, it is evident that the United States would suffer to the same degree as Canada. Mr. Bowell doubted the truth of the report, and said he did not think that If Mr. Blaine was a member of President Harrison's Cabinet any such course would be pursued.
